

TRIPLE CANOPY

Secure Success.

Training has become a top priority for organizations worldwide as they prepare to counter increasingly complex and evolving security threats. High-quality training programs are required to mitigate risk and, ultimately, protect personnel and other valuable assets.

A leader in the security training industry, Triple Canopy consistently offers quality services that enable customers to realize a high return on their training investments. We specialize in developing and executing comprehensive training programs for the U.S. and international governments, state and local law enforcement agencies and private clients. Our certified project managers, experienced instructors and robust logistics capability enable us to quickly implement and sustain training programs of any scale in any environment.

Customer Focus

Triple Canopy's approach to training begins with an analysis of your organization's requirements. To ensure that your training objectives are met in a cost-effective manner, we develop specific curricula to enhance the performance of your organization. We offer a comprehensive set of training modules that enable us to quickly put together programs of instruction tailored to meet your distinct needs. For unique training requirements, Triple Canopy's instructional system designers can partner with your organization to create, continually update and maintain a robust curriculum.

Experience You Can Trust

An industry leader in security and training, Triple Canopy employs high-caliber instructors with subject matter expertise and tactical experience in protective services, defensive driving, marksmanship and anti-terrorism force protection. We have provided training to several thousand students in various countries in support of U.S. government and commercial clients. Whether your organization requires former special operations veterans or recognized experts from federal or local law enforcement agencies, Triple Canopy has the right training solution for you. Clayton Consultants, a Triple Canopy company, also delivers security awareness briefings, crisis simulations and kidnap prevention workshops through its global consultant network.

Quality

Our instructors combine classroom training, scenario-based exercises and practical applications to create an active-learning environment. Triple Canopy's training services are ISO 9001:2000 certified and comply with International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR). From military personnel and guard forces to law enforcement officers and corporate executives, Triple Canopy's training has received a high customer satisfaction rating across the globe.
